Course Overview
San Diego County is known for its beautiful and serene beaches which bely the perils hidden in the rough waters off shore. Such is the case with the huge waves of danger that surround us in our seemingly routine everyday lives. We journey daily through streets, intersections, highways, playgrounds and the apparent safety of our own homes. Whether it is a bicycle crash, skateboarding or action sports injury, a pedestrian related trauma or a simple fall, the possibilities for individuals to face emergent injury is seemingly endless.

This year we will travel down the pipeline to explore severe traffic related injuries and fatalities, cranial bleeds, current local trauma data, stopping dangerous hemorrhage, and the legal and emotional aspects of caring for trauma patients. In addition, deeper waters offer the opportunity for attendees to become certified in “Stop the Bleed.”

Please come and surf these thick curl topics and learn ways to escape the “Perils of the Pipeline!”

The intended audience for this course is RNs, EMTs, paramedics and any individuals who provide care to trauma patients. Methods of instruction include Power Point, lecture, discussion and case studies.

Course Objectives
After attending this activity, participants should be able to:
- Recognize the importance of “VISION ZERO” a strategy to eliminate all traffic fatalities and severe injuries
- Discuss the importance of helmet use to prevent injury in skateboarding and other action sport
- Describe resultant injuries and the treatment from pedestrians struck by automobiles
- Demonstrate knowledge of “Stop the Bleed”, a national protocol for first responders to a traumatic injury
- Describe the current data related to San Diego County’s trauma incidence, trends and treatment
- Recognize the relationship between coagulation and intracranial hemorrhage
- Recognize the legal implications of caring for trauma patients
- Demonstrate the strategies for managing emotional impact of caring for trauma patients
